

excellence awards

Excellence Awards is an entirely automated, totally secure and a fully auditable system that makes it easy for managers to reward at the same time as providing rewarded employees with an almost limitless number of redemption opportunities. Designed specifically to meet the needs of companies looking for new and original ways to motivate and reward staff that achieves performance goals.

Excellence Awards can be fully customised and branded to a client's specific scheme requirement. Working on a points-based reward system, employees can select from 1,000's of great gift ideas. Excellence awards comprise of two components, the reward system and the redemption website. The reward system allows managers to select employees, choose a reward category or enter a specific reason, choose a reward level or enter a number of points to be awarded, produce a reward certificate and send a notification email. The redemption web site is a password-protected rewards catalogue with over 6,000 products.

It also includes all the popular high street vouchers, providing the employee with real choice. The employee receives their notification email, which provides them with their unique account number and password. When they log on to the website their online account will have automatically been set up and credited with their award points. They then select a gift of their choice and use their points to pay for it. If the gift item is over the value of points awarded, the employee can use their credit/debit card to pay for the difference. Whatever your company's requirements - Reward & recognition, long service, retirement gifts, incentive strategies, one-off bonuses or Christmas gift schemes, we have the solution.

People Value also operates the Excellence Awards Bureau, an outsourced service enabling companies to manage smaller reward budgets in a highly cost effective manner. Should you have an enquiry around Excellence Awards, we will work with you to create the solution that best fit with your specific needs.
